US, Europe banking woes may hit Indian IT companies' growth

SHIVANI SHINDE
Mumbai, 21 March

The IT services sector in India may have to bear the brunt of the banking sector crisis in the US and Europe, which may affect their FY24 growth momentum. The industry counts banking, financial services, and insurance (BFSI) as its largest customer base. According to Nasscom, BFSI constituted 41 per cent of the industry's revenue in FY23.

Indian IT players like Tata Consultancy Services (TCS), Infosys, Wipro, HCL Technologies, Mphasis, and LTIMindtree have exposure to some of the troubled banks.

"We expected a growth slowdown in FY2024 to play out in the form of a weak March 2023 quarter, followed by a moderate uptick in IQFY24 and normalisation in 2QFY24. Current woes in the banking sector can impact sequential growth by 1-2 per cent in IQFY24," said a note from Kotak Institutional Equities. The note further stated that its current growth forecast for leaders — FY2024E — stood at 8 per cent, which may be cut short by 1-2 percentage points due to the current crisis.

For instance, TCS has exposure to Silicon Valley Bank (SVB), Credit Suisse, and UBS. "We estimate SVB exposure is 10-20 bps for TCS, Infosys and LTIM that may lead to a provision in 4Q23. While this has driven a correction and taken multiples down by 0.5-1, estimates don't factor in the increased EPS (earnings per share) risk from any further slowdown in spending," said a JP Morgan report.

Analysts are expecting TCS and Infosys to create provisions for the impact in Q4FY23. In the US, said Phil Fersht, chief executive officer (CEO) and chief analyst, HFS Research, since the bailout of SVB had taken place it might not impact and might see tightening in spending in IT as costs were rationalised. "SVB UK is now under HSBC and there could be some vendor consolidation to HSBC preferred suppliers, but do not expect any major changes this year," he added.

Analysts, however, are saying there could be two scenarios building up for the sector. One would be medium-term, where these players will have to provision for the impact of these troubled banks. The medium to short term will be a troubled period for the sector because this will impact deal flows too. "Q4 may not have an impact except in the case of SVB. But this may impact deal flows for the next few quarters. Pricing could also come under pressure," said Pareek Jain, CEO, EIR.

Fersht said: "We see some slowdown in decision making in mainly mid-size banks, and some delays due to consolidation. We do not expect growth of more than 2 per cent in the sector this year. In the short term, we see some longer-term decisions being delayed, which has a negative impact on spending on Indian IT services."

Second, a long-term impact could be a scenario that emerged after the Lehman crisis in 2008, when banks sold their captives, focused more on costs, and ran business projects, which, in turn, turned out beneficial for the sector.

Fersht added as the sector regained stability and confidence, he would expect Indian services to benefit because most of the banks had core modernisation investment to make to remain competitive.

"We expect a stronger onus to move to an outsourcing model and away from

IT FEELS BANKING PAIN AS STOCKS CONTINUE TO FALL

The banking turmoil in the US and Europe has singled the IT sector. The shares of TCS have slipped over 8 per cent in the last nine trading sessions. On Tuesday, the scrip was down 1.32 per cent, closing at ₹3,105.9 on BSE. The share prices of Infosys, HCL Tech, and Wipro have declined by 6.8 per cent, 3.3 per cent, and 6.6 per cent, respectively on the BSE, falling for nine consecutive sessions. SHIVANI SHINDE

CREDIT SUISSE CRISIS MAY HIT WEALTHY INDIANS

The Credit Suisse Group AG crisis is likely to make a dent on the way well-off Indians view international wealth managers, a firm backed by Liechtenstein's royal family said on Tuesday. Rajesh Chervu, chief investment officer and managing director at LGT Wealth India Private, said in the past 15 years or so, many multinational financial institutions have come and exited Indian markets and the latest incident was making wealthy investors nervous. global in-house centres," he added.

J P Morgan said: "We remain UW (underweight) on the sector as we expect revenue/earnings growth in FY24/25 will disappoint expectations at peak multiples. We expect IQ and FY24 guides and commentary driving a sharp reset to sector expectations as a weak IQ becomes more visible."

The turmoil has rekindled the fear of a global recession. The IT sector is suffering the heat as seen in the correction in the stock prices of top players.

Mondelez ups India bet, to invest ₹4K cr in 3 yrs

SHARLEEN D'SOUZA
Mumbai, 21 March

Mondelez India is set to pump in ₹4,000 crore between 2023 and 2026 to meet the growing demand for its products.

The maker of Cadbury Dairy Milk chocolates will make investments in manufacturing to expand reach. It will add capacity at existing factories, warehousing and logistics associated with factories, and augment its route-to-market, including investments in cold chain to reach rural markets, via chillers and refrigerators. "We are seeing a very healthy volume growth trajectory. India remains a priority market for Mondelez International and we continue to accelerate our investments to grow our business here," Deepak Iyer, managing director at Mondelez India, told Business Standard in an interview. He added that a bulk of the investments will go towards manufacturing.

The chocolate major signed a memorandum of understanding with the Andhra Pradesh government to invest

Deepak Iyer, managing director at Mondelez India, said that a lot of expansion was in rural markets approximately ₹1,600 crore over the next three years. He said its other investments in its brands, advertising, and media will continue.

This investment by the maker of Oreo cookies comes after it invested ₹1,500 crore between 2019 and 2022.

The investment comes at a time when demand for packaged foods remains on an upswing, albeit impacted by high inflation that is eating into household budgets. Iyer explained that a lot of the expansion is in rural markets. Last year, the company directly supplied to over 200,000 villages. Five years ago, its rural reach was only a fourth of what it currently covers.

Mondelez India witnessed growth across all its three divisions, even during the pandemic years. "We are seeing robust growth across all three categories — chocolates, biscuits, and baked snacks," said Iyer. The management of Mondelez International said on its global call that its India business grew in double-digits for the year-end quarter on the back of both chocolates and biscuits.

"Momentum in emerging markets (EMs), particularly China and India showing strong results, combined with the resilience of our categories, as evidenced by strong volume growth, is helping us to offset the challenges that many companies are facing, such as global cost inflation, the energy crisis, recession concern in Europe, and supply-chain volatility," said Dirk Van de Put, chief executive officer.

ONDC orders start flowing on Snapdeal, Tier-II+ demand strong

ARYAMAN GUPTA
New Delhi, 21 March

E-commerce firm Snapdeal said on Tuesday it had started receiving orders through the Open Network for Digital Commerce (ONDC), the non-profit company set up by the government as an alternative for internet shopping.

Snapdeal said early orders via ONDC were from Ajmer, Gurdaspur, Aligarh, Indore, Kakinada, Amravati and other cities. Most orders are for home and kitchen products like bed sheets, towels, and utensils. Customers using ONDC can access Snapdeal's catalogue of home and kitchen products. Snapdeal is also expanding access to its fashion, beauty and personal care categories on the network.

Snapdeal made its debut on ONDC in July last year and it was fully integrated earlier this month. It is the only e-commerce firm in India to fully integrate its buyer and seller platforms onto ONDC. Amazon announced in February that it will integrate its logistics network with ONDC.

"As we go live on ONDC, we would like to reiterate our belief that enabling India's existing retail players, especially MSMEs, to embrace the online opportunity is the best way for India to reap the digital dividend for the largest section of society," Himanshu Chakraborty, chief executive officer (CEO) of Snapdeal Market Place, said.
